WORDS FOR CHANGE

Andrew Johnston | Curriculum Vitae

I train, edit and write for international organizations.

Since 2013 I have given 400 writing workshops around the world. I spent 25 years editing for daily newspapers, including 11 years at the International Herald Tribune, where I was deputy opinion page editor. I'm also an award-winning poet.

Since 2009 I have edited many major development reports, including the African Development Bank Group's Annual Report 2024 and Ten-Year Strategy 2024-2033; the OECD Skills Outlook; the Africa Progress Report; Reducing the Risks of Climate Overshoot.

From 2010 to 2014 I was a P4 staff member at UNESCO, where I edited the UN's annual international education survey, the Global Education Monitoring Report.

My journalism experience includes:

Deputy Opinion Page Editor and Staff Editor, International Herald Tribune, 1999-2010

Writing workshops for international organizations

328 dedicated workshops, 99 open workshops, 2013-2026

I have trained thousands of staff from UN agencies, NGOs, think tanks and development banks to produce clear, concise texts that are logical and persuasive. Participants learn to analyse and structure ideas coherently, maximise readability, tell stories and avoid impersonal language.

I have trained staff of many major global agencies, including:

ACDI/VOCA
African Development Bank
Danish Refugee Council
European Climate Foundation
European Investment Bank
Gavi, the Vaccine Alliance
Global Witness
International Energy Agency
International Organization for Migration
International Organization for Standardization
Médecins sans frontières
Norwegian Refugee Council
OECD
Overseas Development Institute
Save the Children
The Global Fund
UN Development Programme
UN Environment
UNESCO
UNICEF
World Bank
World Economic Forum
World Food Programme
World Intellectual Property Organization
